

Absolution of Understanding (There are Two)

Taken into consideration that of the lemma of a decree; there is established that of a relation of relative terms under which it is known of that of difference between lemma and supposition; that of consequence and action in activity to be found through that of either; hence problems do not exist therefore only solutions are to be found.

Preliminary indications illustrate differences and as such it holds that of either relation so knowable is revealed by that of either such hand holding.
