

The Title, Deed, and Manner of Way to Achieve Independence of Sense of Mind from Empathy

- 1.) Emotions are as a given, if it is so considered as such; completely and absolutely rational.
- 2.) Therefore; it is logical to know of the difference of sense of direction as sense is relative &.
- 3.) Relative relations are rational, and except means before ones awareness bodily or of mind.
- 4.) External and internal relations are knowable through logical associativeness of emotion.
- 5.) As so realized through choice there therefore exists passage of lightness of easing of mean.
- 6.) Once as so arriving at given inclusive open interior relation awareness of mind is realized.
- 7.) Hence awareness of emotion; self emotional control and liberation from restraint is there.
- 8.) Choice therefore within the rational holds the capacity of open interior and of an exterior.
- 9.) This form of emptiness is therefore knowable as the precognition of awareness of feeling.
- 10.) These two truths are a singular realization and oneness within one character and being.
- 11.) Attachment and detachment within one reveal freedom of bodily sense and mind sense.
- 12.) Therefore emotional and empathic bodily and mental sense is distinguished by the self.
- 13.) By and through emotional self realization of such as this open relation admits empathy.
- 14.) As a result awareness is brought into self of emotional self control of direction and sense.
- 15.) This nature of inner sense reveals the capacity of the self to redirect towards new feeling.
- 16.) As a consequence of realization of choice over such a capacity, one remains a whole being.
- 17.) Further through return of contemplation over choice there exists body and mind sense.
- 18.) By attentive focus within the mind so abiding within awareness of sense there is choice.
- 19.) Remaining therefore it stands that emotional memory and physical memory are saved.
- 20.) Following the motion and continuance of seamlessness of these two freedom is found.
