I have settled my work on the physics.

I am on to engineering, as a dedication to my abilities and considerations of employment in the future. So physics is entirely in the past, but-for some editing of a few old note(s), shelving and filing in my filing cabinet, safe, and where I keep papers. I am selling (entirely) about 56 old book(s) and moving on, - with only a vague impression of regrets.

I found that I need capacitate change in people's life, but assure the safe use of any means I develop through code and innovations.

Thus, change, for people means the ability to comprehend them and their world, which relates to memories. Physics is now a vague impression, for what is the comprehension of a regular understanding a fulfilled commitment, but in the modern world there is an architecture and shaping to that of the ideal and the self, and that of the options in their alternative capacities.

Thus, in finding a way to identify global pieces of inference on information, I found a way to break down 'data' and possess a keen beginning at a new theory of information in relation to things such as stones and minerals, flowers, and shells. The 'hidden strata' beyond (with the self-projective) - is part of a three dimensional 'table of acquisition' then for what is a 'table of accounting'.

Update: The cool part is that my technology enables means for our survival based on the 'core ethic and intellectual ghost of the machine'. Through nature, and the weather.... Via the 'industrial megalopolis of the world'.

This also explains a lot of my subconscious traits and understandings of the way I relate to people!

This works not by telephotonic relationships (or optical transparency of a material - although this is an element)..... and it does not work through a 'portal'.

It does not operate through a doorway..... and it does not operate on a 'cycle' - instead, it is an incommensurate (hinal) neutrality above ground, (like a channel*) - and a reciprocation between an 'easy and a firm' - through which it shuffles a dichotomy of primary symbolic entropic weight (information redundancy) and pressure... (density is qualified through channels).

So, an-organelle.
